Sam Loves Max is a brand that cares. We not only want to provide premium quality first class condoms to you. We also want to support people who need them too but cannot afford them and educate people that are not familiar with condoms. We aim to make the world a safer sexual environment.

For every condom that you buy, we will donate one. The distribution of the donated condoms will be carried out by international aid organisations. Besides donation, we will allocate resources and provide peer to peer education together with our user group. This growing user community can propose and initiate new projects and participate in educational programs.
