Natural humidification through evaporation technology, up to 370 g per hour

When rooms should bear optimal humidity with least possible energy consumption, Oskar is the one to call in! He's a full-power economist for ideal room climates thanks to an integrated hygrostat that supports exact humidification. His switch-off action on an empty tank is unique in his class and reduces energy consumption even further. Practically silent and invisible when you lie dormant, Oskar is an accommodating fellow – with LED control light that can be dimmed to night mode. The memo function reminds you to replace the filter. And in order to secure the very best of wellness, Oskar distributes your very special choice of scent!
