

Let's play equal

The most unfair game in the world

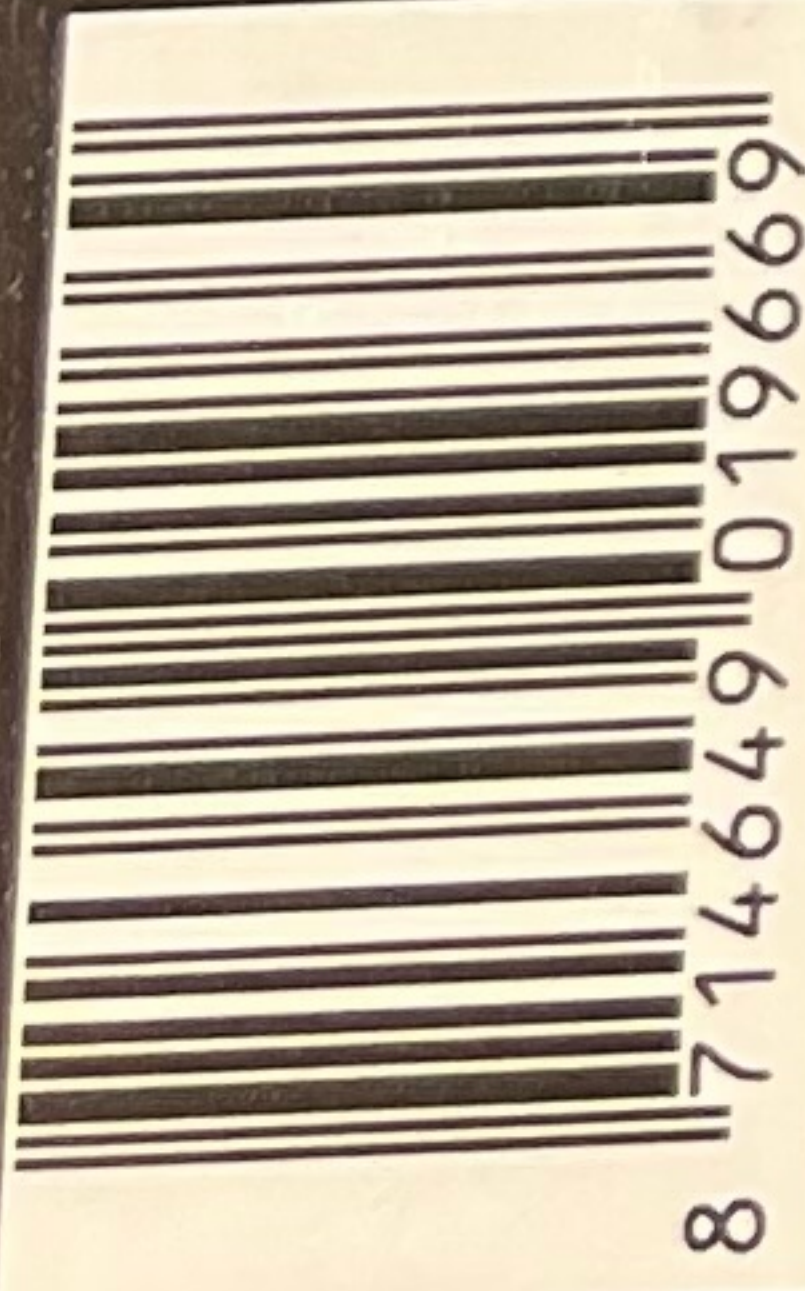

How does the hand we are dealt help or hinder us as we move through life? How does it affect success, love, careers, mindsets, and the experience of the everyday? What does privilege look like, and how does inequality impact different people?

Introducing Let's play equal, the most unfair game in the world. Designed to inspire reflections on diversity, (in)equality, and inclusiveness. To help you think through your background, identity, and characteristics, and how these shape your experience of the world.
