Product description:

Our high quality, made from recycled rubber, fall protection mats are not only environmentally friendly, but also a top product in terms of drop safety. This rubber floor is used anywhere where there is a risk of falling: in the garden as a patio floor under the swing and slide under the climbing frame and gym rack, but also in fitness rooms and sports fields. In order to create a safe and attractive place, our fall protection mats are indispensable. Due to the nature of the fall protection base made of rubber granules, you can easily shape the plates as you like. In addition, you have the choice of colour combination. Your imagination knows no bounds. Especially in outdoor use, weather resistance is a very important factor, of course, this is full of our product. When used outdoors, the coarse-grained granules have optimal slip resistance and a quick water flow to avoid puddles. Our fall protection mats are a durable, weatherresistant and versatile product with a plus in the field of drop safety as well as floor protection.
