What does it mean when you see a product with the  stamp?

It is a certification stamp that ensures high quality. Factories using the RoHS stamp are required to manufacture products that meet very high governmental standards. Many overseas factories do not use the RoHS stamp since it is very expensive. Every factory model must be presented to RoHS for approval and then the factory must maintain this level of acceptance. This raises the cost of each unit. The car by TOYS will not sacrifice savings for an inferior product that is produced with our name on it. Products produced by our contracted factories must meet our high standards for QC (quality control), working conditions and safety.

Always look for the RoHS stamp when purchasing an RC Product. We are proud to have shared this valuable information with you.
